Hello, my name is Matt Eblen. I spent the 1st half of my childhood in Kansas City, Missouri and the latter half in Fort Scott, Kansas. I graduated from Fort Scott High School in 1990. From there, I went to the University of Kansas to get a BS Degree in Civil Engineering along with an MS degree in Civil Engineering with an emphasis in Water Resources. I started working for Shafer, Kline & Warren in June of 1996. I am currently a Senior Project Manager working on Municipal and Site Development work. My experience involves providing stormwater services ranging from drainage studies to city-wide master plans. I also have management and design experience in site design along with the various aspects of water, sewer and road design as well as doing on-call city engineering for smaller municipalities.

Life outside of work involves staying in shape doing various sports, spending time with friends and family, coaching baseball, reading and being involved in the church I'm a part of.
