As a former “Army brat”, I spent all of my childhood traveling the globe and was fortunate to live in some really great places. In fact, I started elementary school in Germany and finished high school in Panama. How I got to Kansas is a long story, but I became a Jayhawk and graduated with a degree in Biology from the University of Kansas in 1998. I headed to North Carolina shortly thereafter where I embarked on a consulting career, specializing in environmental compliance, NEPA (National Environmental Policy Act) in particular. After a 3.5 year period with Law Engineering/Mactec, I had the opportunity to join STV as a Transportation Planner in their newly-formed Planning & Environmental group. Nine years later, I’m proud to still be part of the team as a Planning Manager and to have played a key role in its growth in the Southeast. Last year, an opportunity was presented that would allow me and my family to return to our beloved Midwest: a job opportunity for my husband, coupled with STV’s desire to expand the geography of our planning services. We jumped at the chance! While business development has become a key role for me, I am primarily responsible for managing environmental documents, feasibility studies, and alternatives analyses for highway, roadway, and bridge projects; as well as transit projects.

My husband, John, and I were both on the rowing team at KU, and that’s where we met. We’ve been married for almost 11 years and live in Prairie Village, KS with our three kids – Sarah (6), Julia (3) and Sam (1) – and our bird, Squawk (22). As a family, we enjoy traveling, watching sporting events (especially KU basketball), and exploring parks and museums. When I have a little time to myself, I do my best to work in running (a love/hate relationship), reading, and chipping away at small home improvement projects.
