My name is Cameron McGown and I am originally from Baton Rouge, Louisiana, but spent most of my childhood growing up near Tonganoxie, KS. After high school I attended Kansas State University where I received a B.S. in Civil Engineering in 2002. Having spent a couple of summers working as an intern, I joined HNTB Corporation's Overland Park office after graduation. Since joining HNTB in the Transportation Department, I have had the opportunity to work on a number of complex and interesting highway interchange projects in various capacities. I currently serve as a Project Manager leading the design and plan preparation for highway projects.

Outside of my professional life, I make my home in southern Olathe where I live with my wife, Megan, our 1 year old daughter, Charlotte, and our two dogs. I am a huge K-State fan (I'm a 4th generation K-State graduate so I come by it naturally) and when I'm not following all things K-State I enjoy pheasant hunting, target shooting, and spending time on the water at Lake of the Ozarks.
