As a child, I would take city maps of my hometown, Hays, and redraw how I thought the intersections should have been laid out. From a young age, you could say I knew I had a calling to be an engineer. I took that calling, had a lot of fun in college, and graduated in 2010 with my Civil Engineering Degree from KU. The August after graduation I started with EBH Engineering in Pratt, KS and have been there since. We are a civil engineering firm that caters to smaller municipalities throughout Kansas, but also work for other governmental and private entities. Through my tenure at EBH, I have primarily worked on water treatment and distribution projects, although recently have had an influx of wastewater, street, and site development projects come my way. I love working with smaller towns, getting to know the unique character each community has, and getting to witness their desire to prosper.

My wife, Kelsi, and I will be married 5 years in October. We have two children, Jacob will be 3 in November, and our little girl Parker will be 1 next month. My how our Friday nights have changed... I enjoy traveling, remodeling our home, boating on the lake, and helping on the family farm. Two things I look forward to most every year is wheat harvest, and our annual trip to Table Rock Lake.
