

A founding partner, Tom has more than 35 years of experience in design of mechanical, electrical, lighting and plumbing systems for architectural projects. For most of his professional career as a Project Manager he has directed the engineering of building systems with his personal design work and supervision of professional staff of all disciplines. Tom's project experience ranges from small renovations to high-rise office buildings and hotels. In his personal time Tom enjoys spending time with his family, woodworking, brewing beer, hunting, fishing, and being outdoors.
