Bio

After graduating from Kansas State University in 2003 I moved to Overland Park. I began my professional career with Smith and Loveless Inc. (S&L) as an application engineer. I worked at S&L for just over 3 years with the main focus of reviewing designs and specifications in order to process equipment orders.

After departing Smith and Loveless in 2006 I joined Larkin Group as a project manager in the aquatic group. I have remained in that role until the present time. My main responsibility is to manage the design and construction of aquatic projects. Project types are: swimming pools, water parks, spray pads and fountains. The vast majority of projects are public facilities within the Midwest.

From a personal standpoint, I've been with my wife Rachel for almost 3 years.

Fun fact about you that will be surprising/interesting to your classmates!

I enjoy being outside doing activities like running and biking. I have completed 3 Ironman triathlons.
